Private Christian schools do not fall under state accreditation. Some states and localities only accept credits from state accredited schools. If you will in the future be enrolling in a state school or college, check the prospective college or school as to their accepting credits from a private Christian school. Also, if student is under 18, home school regulations vary from state to state. Check with each locality concerning home school requirements. If you are earning a diploma for a prospective job, check your employer to make sure this is accepted. We have not had any situations when it was not accepted, but it is a good practice to check before enrolling.

Note: Students who are drawing Social Security or will be drawing Social Security are required to schedule 20 hours of work each week. This can be a combination of work completed at home and at school. These hours must be documented and turned in to the school. This is a Social Security requirement.
